We welcome you, our dear friends in Light. Speaking to you this morning is the I AM Presence of Kuthumi and Lady Nada. We would very much like to remind you to use your divine knowledge to surround yourself and your loved ones with the protective love and power of the angelic realms. You must at this time, use the consciousness that you have! These beings are Light exist to serve you. But you must ask! This is very simple and yet profound. Many of you are meditating conscientiously, but do not call in the power and Love of the angelic realms! We simply suggest that every morning you invoke the Light and Love of the angels, of the archangels, or of your personal guardian angel thus:

In the name of the Light, I give thanks for the protection, love and guidance from the angelic realms on this day. In gratitude, I am thankful for the loving protection from these beings of light for myself, for my loved ones, and for all those in humanity who are open to receive this celestial guidance! I AM a being of light. In gratitude, so be it.

You may also wish to state this or something similar every evening before retiring to bed.

We would like to give you an example of why this is important. Your soul is here to learn certain lessons. At this time in humanity's cycle of enlightenment, these lessons do not have to be extreme. But they must still be learned. Your soul will orchestrate the circumstances in your life to be exactly what you need in order to learn your spiritual lessons and to complete the cycle of becoming. When you consciously invoke the Power of the angelic realm, these lessons will often occur in a much softer, gentler way than if you simply blundered your way through the circumstances of life. The angels are here for you our dear friends in light, and they will soften your landings, literally and figuratively.

Last evening, the nine year old daughter of our messenger jumped onto the top of a glass table. Her foot and leg went through the glass as it shattered into pieces. She was very much protected and cared for by the angels through the direct invocation of her Mother. This beautiful 9-year-old being of light's soul needed the lesson of care and caution. This comes at a time when her energies are accelerating and her wisdom body is lightening. These are the "accidents" of childhood – the reminders to the child and the parent to TAKE CARE! Without the protection of the angelic realm, this little girl could have very easily sustained a serious, if not life threatening injury. With her own guardian angel and the intercession of the Archangel Michael, the only injury was a cut on the big toe. That is all. The lesson for her soul is to move forward surrounded by love, by nurturing and through the energies of divine grace and ease. Is it not preferable that this lesson is learned in a simple way, rather than one with suffering and drama?

We share this with you because it is a beautiful example of how you, as parents, as caretakers, and as servers of humanity can assist those in need. The angels must be invoked, must be called and must be thanked. Did you notice how we did not suggest the wording to the angels of "please assist me?" No, you have no need to beg or plead with these magnificent beings. We simply suggest that you invoke the angels in gratitude - for here is the one small thing about the angelic realm: What you ask of them is already done! This is so simple that it is astounding and yet deeply True.

You must Ask, Believing! This means you simply give thanks. You are indeed surrounded by many beings of light. As a reminder to you all, invoke this, be grateful and learn in the energy of grace and ease.

For the greatest good of all concerned.

Namaste,

Kuthumi and Lady Nada
