A Message from the Archangelic Hosts

We now share with you this message from the Archangelic Command on this day of practicing self-mastery for those of you who make the free will choice:

WE welcome you and we will say to you from the fullness of our presence of Seven Archangels: You are Divine. This is simple. For if you would believe in your perfection rather than in your flaws, all your thoughts, words and actions would be beautiful. We will tell you what your energy systems look like from the perspective of the angelic world: We see you as shining points of light surrounded by clouds of self-doubt and the illusion of imperfection. Your physical bodies are a small aspect of this picture, for even the seven energy bodies you know and work with are a fraction of all that we see of you. Your entire being encompasses a long pathway of experience, of light and dark interplay, of multiple manifestations of your soul in many multiple Nows, and of the over-arching impelling urge to return in wholeness to the Source. What does this look like from the eyes of the Archangels? It looks like a spiraling, infinite rainbow of Light. Each one of you is the wholeness of this rainbow and a particle of the rainbow which makes the whole. From here, it is all Light and you are part of that Light.

Now, for those of you working and playing in the etheric realms at this time, you may wish to experience the grid as existing on multiple levels. The first grid you may wish to see in your mind is your own energy grid. For within your microcosm, is the macrocosm and the multi-cosm of higher reality. If you picture in your mind, and then bring to the top of your head through the crown chakra into the eighth chakra, your energy systems, you will see a beautiful grid of Light. This grid is interwoven throughout your energy bodies, from the physical, to the emotional, mental, etheric, spiritual, causal, galactic and celestial bodies. Your own energy grid is repairing and reconnecting, expanding and spiraling and returning to the fullness of All Light. Yes indeed, most beautiful.

Now, if you so choose, you may wish to next envision the energy grid of humanity, as one being. We spoke of the great good that may come of you choosing to love all parts of humanity. If you wish to do such a thing, you may now enter into the light grid of humanity. For as one entity, the light grid of humanity is also repairing and reconnecting, expanding and spiraling and returning to the fullness of All Light. The light grid of humanity also has seven bodies and multiple grids connecting all seven to One and all One to the seven parts. We will tell you that there are certain aspects of humanity, represented by not only geographic location, but of race and genetic origin, that represent the seven energy bodies of humanity. However, we do not see it in your greatest good to be in consciousness of this at this time, for there is still the element of judgmental-ism at work on at your mental level of duality. Perhaps at a future date, this will be revealed to you through the Archangel Metatron.

Next, you may wish to see the light grid of earth. The light grid of earth begins in the core of the earth (the physical body), then extends to the ley lines (the emotional body), the ocean currents, (the mental body), the sacred vortex sites (the spiritual body), the atmosphere surrounding the earth (the etheric body), and the three layers of lights grids surrounding the earth above the atmosphere (the causal, galactic and celestial bodies) – the higher tripartite Grid (Love-Wisdom-Power). All parts of this grid are available to you who are choosing to be conscious of the grids and your abilities to interact and interplay within the Light.

When you enter into these grids through the Archangels, you are making a conscious choice to Love. This is the essence of the grids: the consciousness of Love and the interconnected nature of multiple grids, from your own light grid to that of humanity, the earth, your soul-ar system and beyond. This is the dispensation, this is the gift from the Archangelic Realm to those of you wishing to participate in the great awakening of the human body, mind and spirit.

We say to you thus, from the Archangelic Command: Join the forces of light, not in work, but in play, not in obligation but in sacred right to join the realm of Divine Light. The time has come to rejoice in the turning of the Age to that of Responsibility and Mastery. The chorus of hosts proclaim: “Hosannah in the Highest, for the Will of the Creator Reigns Supreme.”

Adonai, adonai Tseboyeth.

Amen.
